

ILLINOIS TECH

Stuart School of Business

Visiting Assistant Professor of Management Science

Fall 2022

Non-tenure track position

Stuart School of Business at Illinois Institute of Technology (Illinois Tech Stuart) seeks to hire a Visiting Assistant Professor of Management Science, focusing on Analytics and Statistics, with an emphasis on marketing and financial applications. Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. in Management Science or a closely related business discipline by August 2022, will have demonstrated potential to excel in the classroom, and practitioner experience is desirable. This is not a tenure track position.

Qualifications, Responsibilities, and Compensation

The applicant must have a Ph.D. in a relevant discipline by August 2022, possess strong teaching skills, and have practitioner experience.

Responsibilities include the potential to teach courses at all levels and conduct research. Salary is competitive. Benefits include comprehensive health/dental/vision/life and disability insurance options.

About Illinois Tech Stuart School of Business

Stuart School of Business is an academic unit of Illinois Institute of Technology (Illinois Tech), a private Ph.D.-granting technological university. Illinois Tech Stuart offers bachelor's, master's, doctoral, and non-degree programs in areas including Finance, Business Administration, Marketing Analytics, Environmental Management and Sustainability, Public Policy and Administration, and Management Science, as well as several interdisciplinary specializations. Illinois Tech Stuart is accredited by AACSB International.

Faculty and Students

Our faculty is made up of 30 full-time distinguished scholars and teachers, with Ph.D.s from notable institutions including Carnegie Mellon, Wharton, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, University of Chicago, MIT, UC-Berkeley, Yale, and Duke.

Illinois Tech Stuart's student population consists of over 380 graduate and undergraduate students. Our student community is diverse, with a large international population as well as domestic students and working professionals.

About Illinois Institute of Technology

Illinois Institute of Technology is a private Ph.D.-granting research university with world-renowned programs in engineering, architecture, the sciences, humanities, psychology, business, law, and design. Founded in 1890, Illinois Tech was born different. It was built on the promise set forth in minister Frank Wakely Gunsaulus' "Million Dollar Sermon" to provide access to higher education for students from all different backgrounds and to make a difference in the world through technology-oriented education.

This guiding mission and purpose – where students, including those underrepresented in technology, could prepare for meaningful roles in a changing industrial society and achieve professional and economic advancement – remains just as relevant today. Thus, diversity and inclusion are part of the day-to-day experience at Illinois Tech and the centerpiece of its culture. As such, Illinois Tech is home to a diverse and global student population, is committed to providing opportunities to enhance the diversity of its faculty and staff, and strongly encourages applicants from all backgrounds to apply for this position, especially those underrepresented in the field, including, but not limited to, women, African Americans, Latinx, Indigenous peoples and others. Visit www.iit.edu for more information.

How to Apply

A full application including a cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of research productivity, evidence of teaching effectiveness and the names of three references should be emailed with Word or PDF attachments to recruiting@stuart.iit.edu. The review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Illinois Institute of Technology is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA employer; we are committed to enhancing equity, inclusion, and diversity within our community. Illinois Tech seeks applications from all individuals regardless of race, color, sex, marital status, religion, creed, national origin, disability, age, military or veteran status, sexual orientation, and/or gender identity and expression. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration.