Stuart School of Business at Illinois Institute of Technology (Illinois Tech Stuart) invites applications for multiple full-time, non-tenure track teaching faculty positions at the Clinical Assistant Professor, Industry Assistant Professor, Senior Instructor, or Senior Lecturer ranks, beginning August 2022. Successful candidates will have experience and demonstrated excellence in teaching and developing instructional materials in business. We seek individuals who have a genuine interest in teaching and curriculum development and dedication to student success. The selected candidate’s faculty appointment title will be determined by the business school administration and faculty, in its sole discretion, and will be commensurate with the candidate’s experience.

Qualifications, Responsibilities, and Compensation
Candidates must have an M.S. or Ph.D. in business, management science, or a closely related business discipline, and preferably at least two years of teaching experience. This is not a tenure track position.

Responsibilities include the potential to teach courses at all levels and conduct research. Teaching responsibilities will include undergraduate and graduate courses in business, public administration and policy, environmental management and sustainability, quantitative finance and accounting, marketing analytics, and management science. Salary is competitive. Benefits include comprehensive health/dental/vision/life and disability insurance options.

About Illinois Institute of Technology

Illinois Institute of Technology is a private Ph.D.-granting research university with world-renowned programs in engineering, architecture, the sciences, humanities, psychology, business, law, and design. Founded in 1890, Illinois Tech was born different. It was built on the promise set forth in minister Frank Wakely Gunsaulus’ “Million Dollar Sermon” to provide access to higher education for students from all different backgrounds and to make a difference in the world through technology-oriented education. This guiding mission and purpose – where students, including those underrepresented in technology, could prepare for meaningful roles in a changing industrial society and achieve professional and economic advancement – remains just as relevant today. Thus, diversity and inclusion are part of the day-to-day experience at Illinois Tech and the centerpiece of its culture. As such, Illinois Tech is home to a diverse and global student population, and is committed to providing opportunities to enhance the diversity of its faculty and staff.
