

Illinois Tech works to ensure an environment for all students and employees that is fair, humane, and respectful. Illinois Tech's Office of Title IX Compliance supports students and employees involved in instances of sex discrimination, including se-based harassment. The Office of Title IX Compliance receives and resolves these complaints and provides educational training to the campus community.

We encourage faculty to help spread the message. To that end, we have prepared a general statement against sexual harassment you may include in your syllabus. The document includes:

- A statement prohibiting sexual harassment at Illinois Tech
- A link for reporting instances of sexual harassment
- Contact information for the Title IX office staff
- The Confidential Advisor contact information

The syllabus statement is below. Please contact Virginia Foster, the Title IX Coordinator at foster@illinoitech.edu for questions you may have.

Statement on Sexual Harassment for Course Syllabi

Illinois Tech prohibits sexual harassment by any member of the community. This includes harassment among students, staff, or faculty. Sexual harassment by a faculty member or teaching assistant of a student over whom they have authority can be particularly serious. Such conduct may easily create an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment. Accordingly, Illinois Tech strives to provide for its students, faculty and staff an educational and employment environment free of sexual harassment.

Illinois Tech encourages anyone experiencing sexual harassment to speak with the Office of Title IX Compliance for information on support options and the resolution process. You can report sexual harassment electronically at iit.edu/incidentreport or contact either the Title IX Coordinator, Virginia Foster at foster@illinoitech.edu, the Title IX Specialist, Ryley Andrews at randrews2@illinoitech.edu

To speak with someone confidentially, contact Illinois Tech's Confidential Advisor at (773) 275-8340 or a licensed practitioner in Illinois Tech's Student Health and Wellness Center by emailing student.health@illinoitech.edu or calling (312)567-7550.
